Ms. McLauchlan advised that some people reported incidents straight to CACH rather than through the police, hence stated reporting figures being different for the two organisations.

A Member queried what was meant by the term ‘mate crime’. Ms. McLauchlan replied that this applied to instances where an individual suffering from learning difficulties or socially isolation was befriended by another individual and taken advantage of due to their vulnerability.

A Member queried what was being done to tackle the increased number of hate crime incidents reported following the outcome of the EU Referendum. Ms. McLauchlan replied that incidents had decreased following an initial increase after the result was known, but it would be necessary to keep an eye on this once a better picture about the UK’s future relationship with the EU was known.

A Member queried if the reporting definitions used by CACH were in keeping with recent guidance issued by the Home Office. Ms. McLauchlan replied that the headings/definitions used were as a result of what incidents had been reported over the past 12 to 18 months, but did cover what had been advised by the Home Office.

A Member queried if there was a breakdown available for the types of disability incidents reported. Ms McLauchlan replied that the most recent figures available indicated that it was an even split between learning and physical disabilities. In respect of underreporting, the Mencap survey reported that 90% of respondents had experienced some form of hate crime on a daily basis, of which 75% never reported. These figures were also at a similar level for participants in the Stonewall survey.

11. Police Performance Report

Chief Inspector Knight provided Members with an update on the latest crime and anti-social behaviour (ASB) numbers since 1 April this year, which detailed that for the 12 months period ending 4 September 2016, crime increased in the District by 5.9% when compared with the previous 12 months period (5,784 reported cases compared to 5,463 previously) and ASB increased by 25% (3,458 reported cases compared to 2,770 previously). Of the reported ASB cases, 559 were committed by youths. Members also received details of the role profiles of PCs and PCSOs as requested at the last meeting. All areas across Staffordshire and Stoke-on-Trent had seen an increase in crime rates, but the percentage increase for Cannock Chase was the lowest.

In respect of the anti-social behaviour figures, a Member asked for clarification as to what the 'Youth Qualifiers' were. The Chief Inspector replied that these had been introduced by the Police and Crime Commissioner (PCC) as a way of clearly identifying ASB incidents caused by youths. A request had also been submitted to the PCC that Qualifiers for alcohol and drug related incidents also be included in the monitoring data.

The Chief Inspector advised that a force-wide working group had been established to look at what incidents were considered to be ASB to ensure that reports were being recorded and categorised accurately.

A Member reported an issue about a number of repeated incidents of criminal damage which had recently happened at the Prince of Wales Theatre and raised concern about the Police response and lack of action taken to deal with this.

Members then gave positive feedback about the use of the recently adopted Traveller and Gypsy Protocol to stop an unauthorised encampment being set up on the Cannock leisure centre car park.

The Chief Inspector then reported that a Police Partnerships Manager had been appointed to provide the parish and town councils with a dedicated contact person and attend meetings in the event that local PCs or PCSOs were unable to do so.

12. Anti-Social Behaviour – Use of New Powers and Tools

The Environmental Protection Manager was in attendance to deliver a presentation on the above matter, which covered the following:

Members requested that Cannock Park be included in any future PSPOs proposed due to previous ASB incidents which had occurred there.

The Environmental Protection Manager reported that a PSPO for ‘car cruising’ had been considered, however there was not sufficient evidence available to warrant introducing such an Order at the present time.
